

With over 40 years' experience teaching, Joyce Herr currently teaches AP English Literature and Composition, Humanities and Dual Credit Freshman English Literature and Composition at Tascosa High School in Amarillo, Texas. She received her B.A. in English from Le Moyne College in Syracuse, NY and earned a M.A. in English from Syracuse University, Syracuse, NY and a M.A. in Educational Social Policy from Empire State College, Saratoga, NY. She has served as the senior English teacher team leader and is the AP Lead English teacher for the Tascosa cluster grades 6-12, responsible for vertical and horizontal curriculum alignment in Pre AP and AP English courses. In addition, since 2001 she has been an adjunct instructor at Amarillo College teaching Freshman Composition and Literature and Humanities courses in both online and traditional classroom settings. Joyce is an AP English Literature teacher mentor for new and experienced AP Lit teachers in several states. Since 2000 she has been a nationally endorsed College Board lead English consultant presenting at one and two day workshops and Advanced Placement Summer institutes as well as presenting numerous years at the Advanced Placement Annual Conference. For the past ten years, she has served as a reader and table leader for the AP English Literature and Composition exam scoring. In addition to her College Board associations, she has presented AP English professional development for teachers and conducts Saturday AP student study sessions for the National Math and Science Initiative.